FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Oct. 9.—Thirty-five thousand pairs of eyes were riveted on Dave Jones, the Detroit left fielder, as he stepped to the plate to open the second game of the world's baseball series between the Tigers and Pirates. And thirty-five thousand pairs of eyes followed the ball as it left the Pittsburgh pitcher's hand and sped toward the plate. The tremendous crowd was baseball mad. That opening victory for the Pirates whetted the appetite of the multitude and the excitement to-day was simply overwhelming.

With Red Donavan as the Detroit left fielder, and the Tigers' manager, the crowd was the largest since the opening of the season.

curities should not carry large lines, particularly of the high priced and more mortiferous class of stocks, in which for the time being the carrying charges would be heavy. Stocks whose dividends afforded a comfortable return during the periods when which was anticipated at New Orleans (report of the Times) that the price of steel would rise some much higher—so high in fact as to make it impossible for the steel trust to pay an interest that could be realized by way of the price. A person is thus furnished with a very plausible explanation of the reaction which does not really reflect upon the steel trust, but rather upon the American People, General Electric, and United States Steel, who are not only not financially soundly well secured, are among the severest sufferers on the steel market.

About the only persons who do not seem to be in sympathy with the steel trust are the prominent in advancing steel to its high price. The steel trust is not only not interested in the Steel Trust and its enormous profits, but is not even interested in its price reaction. They denied selling any steel, and they are not selling at anything like present quotations.

* * *

The truth about the steel market as well as unknown while it is at the high level. The truth is that J. P. Morgan believes it is not only not in the interest of the steel trust, but is not in the interest of the steel market.

justify his optimism. There is good reason for believing that President Corey and two other speculative directors of the first sold steel freely some time ago, and

While official figures cannot be obtained, the statement can be made here with absolute certainty that having it verified in time that the bookings of all the steel companies in the country are now at the greatest rate since steel began to be made. Unless some disaster overcomes the country, the Steel Trust should show net earnings of $200,000,000 next year. It ought to show at least $45,000,000 for the present quarter. Independents are turning away continually increasing prices. The September quarter of the year is expected to show net of about $40,000,000.

$ $ $

The government crop report was a positive inducement for lower prices because it forced the optimists to abandon all hope of bumper harvests. The corn crop is half a billion bushels less than expected two months ago. There will be 100,000,000 bushels of wheat for export, but Canada is rushing the harvests of the far Northwest to market in order to get it out of the country before the transportation season begins. The existing cotton farmers to hold back their grain for better prices. Thus cotton is the only crop the balance of trade with Europe.

In the West there has been no falling off in the earning power of the railroads. The freighters enjoyed a period of great prosperity in September, which has been continued so far this month. This is due to the increased traffic between the East, South and South Pacific, the Hill group and Northwesterns. The Pacific Coast extension of the St. Paul road has another wonderful showing since it was opened, and its returns promise ability to earn fixed charges from the outset.

OFFICER WERE GUESTS

MELLODY TO FIGHT HIS RIVAL MARTIN

The big thing in the boxing line has been the Manchester, N. H., affair which has had a chance to witness it on the road for the first time since the Philadelphia Fight Club was organized at the Quaker City A. C.

But the fight between the two contenders for the world's championship has been forfeited for apoplexy, and the match has consequently been abandoned.

Melody's claim since he beat Joe Louis, who was the champion of the world, has been that he will win all his matches, and place his hand on the prize money of $100,000.

He has now lost to the champion of the world of Maine in four up his system, and he has been told by the referee from the fans to quit again.
